

H-Selection Selectum Brown

Selectum Brown by STIPL Roofz offers a warm, classic aesthetic with klinker durability and FlexiLock ease—ideal for stylish, long-lasting roofing.

Selectum Brown – Classic Warmth, Superior Strength

Selectum Brown brings the charm of traditional European tiles with the strength of klinker clay and FlexiLock installation, ensuring long-lasting performance and earthy elegance for any roofing project.

The H-Selection Selectum Brown Roof Tile is a premium roofing solution that embodies timeless beauty and modern engineering. Its warm, earthy brown finish is perfect for traditional homes, villas, or architectural designs inspired by Mediterranean and colonial aesthetics.

Crafted with klinker ceramic technology, Selectum tiles are fired at high temperatures to achieve outstanding hardness, low porosity, and superior weather resistance. The result is a tile that doesn't just look beautiful—it performs brilliantly under all climate conditions.

What sets Selectum apart is its FlexiLock system, which ensures a snug, secure fit for each tile, reducing installation effort while maximizing alignment and coverage. With a variable usage of 11 to 14 tiles per square meter, Selectum Brown adapts seamlessly to different roof sizes and slopes.
